

Abiel Reinhart

Abiel Reinhart is a senior economist with the US Economic Research group at J.P. Morgan. He helps set the firm's year-ahead outlook for the economy, analyzes high-frequency data releases, and writes on topical issues. Abiel has more than 15 years of experience with J.P. Morgan. In addition to economic research, he has previous experience at the firm in risk management and corporate finance roles, focusing on the relationship between the bank's performance and macroeconomic conditions.